³In re Black Farmers Discrimination Litigation, the Law Offices of James Scott Farrin led a team of firms to recover $1.25 billion from the U.S. government for discrimination against African-American farmers.

We Led One of the Largest Civil Rights Cases in U.S. History

In one of our proudest moments, we led one of the largest civil rights cases in the country's history. In 2010, the case culminated in a $1.25 billion settlement designed to give Black farmers long-awaited compensation after years of egregious discrimination by the United States Department of Agriculture (USDA).³

The years of hard work, massive logistical challenges, and hard-won experience from that case altered our DNA and have made us more capable of handling any challenge we may face. It took all we had to offer, but it was well worth it to find some measure of justice for people who had so much taken from them.³

MORE REMARKABLE RESULTS*

$4,500,000

Commercial truck accident settlement for a man who was injured when he was struck by a tractor-trailer.

$3,000,000

$2,500,000

Personal injury settlement for an North Carolina resident who was struck and severely injured by another vehicle.

“If we don't achieve a result for a client, we don't get a fee. I love that because — if we can't get someone a result, I don't want a fee. We're not paid on the hours we work on the case or the time we put in. We have one incentive, and that is to get our client as much as possible.”⁴
